

Janice Nadeau explores the healing process within the family context. With a keen sense of empathy, the author shares stories that show how, gradually, families come to terms with their grief and make sense of death. This "family meaning-making" is not a linear process. It is alternately stimulated and inhibited within a family. Nadeau draws conclusions from her research about which particular social factors and conditions play a role in the overall outcome. She succeeds in showing not only how different families cope with death within the family, but also how skillful and sensitive field research is done.

This series of CDs contains over 3 hours of listening. Our special blend of music and conversation will appeal to both your heard and your heart. Dr. Nadeau offers information on types of loss and recovery while Ken Medema, popular concert artist and skilled music therapist, answers with interpretive song. Their poems, stories and easy style will help to inform, comfort and inspire you.